Custodial Inspection Hatch

Model L8694/L8743/L8699/L8780

The Kaye Custodial Inspection Hatches – Have a robust and reliable sliding cover mechanism which will fit most UK Police Cell Doors and can easily be moved to three separate positions; closed for viewing, open for viewing and open for access.

The new internationally respected PKAYE / WTE Custodial Security Specification '03' a 'Specification for Custodial Inspection Hatches' has been drawn from the requirements of potential users and from the relevant parts of other hardware standards.

Designed and manufactured in Leeds, England it uses a lightweight alloy construction which is simple to operate. The slide mechanism will lock automatically and all edges are suitably shaped to minimise injury.

The Kaye Custodial Inspection Hatch is tested to the new standard and is proven to withstand the specified static dead-load on any part of its inner surface without failure. It has long lasting operational durability and is resistant to wilful damage.
